

Are you looking for a green gift?

Do you want to promote environmental education in our state? Here's a way you can make both happen. From now until Christmas, all those who purchase a digital or print subscription to Green Teacher magazine will be financially supporting environmental education in Virginia. The editors of this award-winning magazine will provide a rebate to the Virginia Resource Use Education Council (VRUEC) of 20% for each subscription from our state that they receive from now until December 25th.

Not familiar with Green Teacher?

For the past 19 years, Green Teacher magazine has provided parents, teachers, and other youth educators from nature centers, parks, etc, with the ideas, activities and inspiration for promoting environmental learning amongst young people aged 6-19. Each quarterly issue is packed with innovative activities covering a wide variety of enviro-topics, along with reviews of the newest green learning resources. To get a better idea of what the magazine has to offer, check out the digital version of a recent issue that is posted for anyone to view for free at www.greenteacher.com.

Subscription Options?

Green Teacher magazine is published four times a year in both print and digital formats. You can view the prices for one and two year subscriptions in each format at www.greenteacher.com/ordersusa.html. Green

Teacher also offers bulk digital subscriptions to institutions, schools, school districts, college of education classes, etc. This allows all of the staff in a nature center or teachers in a school, for example, to take advantage of the articles and activities found in Green Teacher. Best of all, each bulk subscription includes access to the most recent 6 back issues, in addition to the next 4 quarterly issues. For more details about each of these options, visit www.greenteacher.com/bulkdigital.html.

How will this promote environmental education in our state?

Every Green Teacher subscription that is purchased by someone in our state will promote the spread of innovative ideas and green learning activities, as well as generate funds for the Virginia Resource Use Education Council. For example, if someone chooses a one year digital subscription, VRUEC will earn $6. For each $55 two year print subscription that is ordered, VRUEC will receive $11. If someone opts to buy a $90 bulk digital subscription for the ten schools in their local school district, VRUEC would receive $18.

* Please note: the above offer does not include renewals of existing subscriptions.
